

MODERN SLAVERY AND HUMAN TRAFFICKING STATEMENT

INTRODUCTION FROM THE MANAGING DIRECTOR OF FUJIFILM UK LIMITED

FUJIFILM UK Limited is a distributor of, and service provider in relation to, products in the UK and Ireland for a range of industries including medical, graphic arts, recording media, optical, photographic and life science technologies. We also have a retail store in central London.

We are a part of the group of companies owned by FUJIFILM Holdings Corporation which has its head office in Japan (“Fujifilm Group”).

As a global organisation providing customers with innovative product and service solutions around the world, the Fujifilm Group is involved in the procurement of numerous materials, components and services. In this role the Fujifilm Group acknowledges that it is responsible for ensuring the quality and safety of its product and service solutions and appropriately managing the supply chain of materials, components and services used in their production. The Fujifilm Group is also a significant user of services within its organisation at both a global and local level. In response to ever increasing social demands, the Fujifilm Group is keen to fulfil its social responsibilities across its entire supply chain. The scope of this responsibility covers the global environment, ethics, human rights, health and safety and other labour conditions of those working within the supply chain from a corporate social responsibility perspective. FUJIFILM Holdings Corporation has signed up to United Nations Global Compact, a voluntary initiative that encourages companies to undertake fair operations in the area of human rights, labour, environment and anti-corruption.

Under a partnership with its suppliers based on mutual understanding and trust, the Fujifilm Group aims to build a more robust and sustainable supply chain through socially responsible procurement that reduces business risks in the supply chain and increases the competitiveness and corporate value of all parties in the chain. As part of these activities, the Fujifilm Group continues to improve its practices to combat any kind of slavery and human trafficking. Companies within the Fujifilm Group are required to conduct their activities in accordance with the Fujifilm Group Charter for Corporate Behaviour and the Fujifilm Group Code of Conduct which cover a variety of ethical business principles including the prevention of slavery and human trafficking in the activities of such companies. For those of our companies involved in the healthcare sector, the Fujifilm Group Global Healthcare Code of Conduct must also be complied with.

The Fujifilm Group Human Rights Statement applies to all personnel in the Fujifilm Group. All business partners associated with the provision of any products and/or services of any Fujifilm Group company are also expected to comply with this Statement. This is driven by a belief that respecting the human rights of workers in the supply chain increases productivity and moral action, which in turn leads to the provision of better products and services, as well encouraging innovation. In addition the Fujifilm Group AI Policy establishes basic principles for the application of AI technology, such as respect for human rights and fair and appropriate use of the technology, for our various businesses to guide the drive to accelerate the use of technology to resolve social issues.

The Fujifilm Group aims to develop together with its suppliers by encouraging them to take initiatives in CSR activities to spread such positive effects. Recognizing the slavery and human trafficking impact of the conflict minerals issue, the Fujifilm Group's stance toward the issue of responsible minerals procurement is also made clear in more detail on the Fujifilm global website and Fujifilm Group companies are obliged to undertake the required actions in this area.

As part of the Fujifilm Group's commitment to these principles, FUJIFILM Holdings Corporation continues to develop its Sustainable Procurement Promotion Program that covers (1) dissemination of procurement-related policies (including the newly revised (in March 2022) and renamed Fujifilm Group Sustainable Procurement Guidelines for Suppliers ("Supplier Guidelines") which cover items listed in the Fujifilm Group Charter for Corporate Behaviour, Fujifilm Group Code of Conduct and Fujifilm Group Human Rights Statement that Fujifilm Group companies request their suppliers to follow; (2) risk assessments of suppliers in high risk areas; and (3) requests to improve any supplier facing CSR risks together with offers of support. The program is run cyclically to check on suppliers to ensure improvements have been made. This Sustainable Procurement Promotion Program has been adopted by Fujifilm Group companies in Japan (including FUJIFILM Corporation (a Japanese subsidiary of FUJIFILM Holdings Corporation which owns the group of subsidiary companies to which we belong) and certain Fujifilm Group companies in other parts of Asia, in Europe and in North America. This Sustainable Procurement Promotion Program will continue to be introduced at other Fujifilm Group companies around the world.

In addition, FUJIFILM Holdings Corporation's stated goal under its Sustainable Value Plan 2030 (SVP 2030), is to become a corporation that promotes social innovation involving all employees and action on social issues from a long-term perspective. In connection with the 15 priority issues established in the six areas of the environment, health, daily life, work style, supply chain and governance, enhancing management of the entire supply chain from the viewpoint of Corporate Social Responsibility has been established as one of the particular priority areas.

This report also covers another year during which the world has continued to suffer from the effects of the global COVID-19 pandemic. Due to the success of the global vaccination campaign, certain parts of the world were starting to return to some form of normality by the end of the current year but many issues still remained. Therefore, during the year Fujifilm Group companies continued their activities to help prevent the spread of COVID-19 and to protect the safety and wellbeing of its staff and those of its suppliers and customers. Many Fujifilm Group staff around the world who can work from home continued to do so especially in regions where COVID-19 remained a significant threat and online meetings were still encouraged to reduce travel so far as possible. Although the COVID-19 pandemic continued to affect some of the efforts to visit higher-risk supplier sites to audit their CSR status, all other CSR activities were again unaffected in the year. Fujifilm Group companies will continue to take such actions as are appropriate in this area during the coming year.

ORGANISATION STRUCTURE

Beginning in 1934 as Japan's pioneering photographic film maker, the Fujifilm Group has leveraged its imaging and information technology to become a global presence known for innovation in healthcare, graphic arts, optical devices, highly functional materials and other high-tech areas. The Fujifilm Group has over 75,000 employees worldwide and operates in most countries around the world. The Fujifilm Group has a global annual turnover of over £15.5 billion.

OUR BUSINESS

Our business in FUJIFILM UK Limited is organised into five business units: Imaging Solutions, Graphic Communication, Medical Systems, Recording Media and Life Sciences which supply FUJIFILM branded products and services in their respective sectors to the UK and Irish market as distributor for the wider Fujifilm Group. Through our Imaging Solutions business unit we operate the Fujifilm House of Photography retail store in central London which sells FUJIFILM branded digital cameras and photo imaging products. We also act as marketing agents and/or service providers in the UK and Ireland supporting the sales of other Fujifilm Group company businesses in fields such as digital cameras, optical devices and industrial products.

OUR SUPPLY CHAINS

Our product supply chain is dominated by products supplied by other Fujifilm Group companies (mainly sourced from FUJIFILM Corporation). We source all these products and all our other products for onward sale to customers from our European intermediate parent company, FUJIFILM Europe B.V. based in the Netherlands. The only products we purchase ourselves are either for local marketing purposes or for internal consumption in running our facilities in the UK and Ireland. These, along with the services we procure, are almost exclusively sourced from UK and/or Irish suppliers.

OUR POLICIES ON SLAVERY AND HUMAN TRAFFICKING

We are committed to ensuring that there is no modern slavery or human trafficking in our supply chains or in any part of our business. We comply with the Fujifilm Group Charter for Corporate Behaviour, Fujifilm Group Code of Conduct, and Fujifilm Group Human Rights Statement which reflects our commitment to acting ethically and with integrity in all our business relationships and to implementing and promoting this approach in our supply chains to prevent and mitigate any human rights abuses.

As most of the products we sell are ultimately sourced from FUJIFILM Corporation, this is also reflected in their adoption of the Supplier Guidelines as referred to above. For those products and services that we purchase ourselves we continue to provide our new suppliers and business partners with a statement of our expectations of them in ensuring that there is no modern slavery or human trafficking in our supply chains and make it clear that their adherence to those expectations are necessary for continued custom from FUJIFILM UK Limited.

OUR PROCESSES TO PREVENT SLAVERY AND HUMAN TRAFFICKING

All Fujifilm Group staff around the world are required to abide by the Fujifilm Group Charter for Corporate Behaviour, Fujifilm Group Code of Conduct, and Fujifilm Group Human Rights Statement in order to ensure that all Fujifilm Group companies exhibit and promote ethical business activities.

FUJIFILM Holdings Corporation conducts annual screening of priority risk issues (including potential ones) in business processes at all Fujifilm Group companies. All Fujifilm Group companies identify priority risk issues, plan and execute necessary measures to address those issues, and manage their results. Priority issues for the Fujifilm Group as a whole, based on the review results for each Fujifilm Group company, and the results of action implemented are reported to, and deliberated on by, the FUJIFILM Holdings Corporation ESG Committee and reported to the Board of Directors of FUJIFILM Holdings Corporation. This includes human rights issues. Human rights are specified explicitly as one of the perspectives requiring attention at each Fujifilm Group company in review of our priority risk issues. If a Fujifilm Group company has identified any human rights risk, it is required to develop and implement preventive and mitigating measures.

For the products that we sell that are ultimately sourced from FUJIFILM Corporation or from certain Fujifilm Group companies in other parts of Asia, Europe and North America (if any), procurement staff in those companies are expected to operate the Sustainable Procurement Promotion Program in order to seek to establish that suppliers act in accordance with the Supplier Guidelines.

As part of the initiatives in Fujifilm Europe generally to identify and manage risk, for the products that we sell that are ultimately sourced from FUJIFILM Europe B.V., for products that we source ourselves and for services, our procurement staff and those of FUJIFILM Europe B.V. work to mitigate the risk of slavery and human trafficking occurring in our or their supply chains in accordance with the Fujifilm Group Charter for Corporate Behaviour and the Fujifilm Group Code of Conduct.

SUPPLIER ADHERENCE TO OUR VALUES AND ETHICS

The Fujifilm Group promotes actions to ban slavery and human trafficking from its supply chain mainly with the framework of ethical procurement.

For the products that we sell that are ultimately sourced from FUJIFILM Corporation or from Fujifilm Group companies in certain other parts of Asia and in North America (if any), suppliers of those products are requested to commit to ethical business principles in a number of areas where human rights can be affected - these include the prohibition of forced labour, child labour and inhumane treatment (including in the context of conflict minerals) as set out in the Supplier Guidelines.

More and more Fujifilm Group companies also use the Fujifilm Group Supplier CSR Checklist to assess suppliers' compliance with the Supplier Guidelines where considered necessary. As a result of suppliers completing these Checklists, primary suppliers in Japan, Europe and the USA have been assessed as a low CSR risk. These Fujifilm Group companies continue to extend the request to complete these Checklists to other suppliers in Japan, Europe and the USA. In cases where significant risk is identified, Fujifilm Group companies conduct on-site CSR audits using expert teams from Fujifilm Group company production sites. The particular focus on suppliers in China and Vietnam continued during the year with further risk assessment being required on 53 suppliers which resulted in carrying out on-site audits of 33 suppliers out of 53. Due to the spread of COVID-19 however, some of the planned onsite visits were cancelled, and the achievement rate was lower than in the previous two years. As a result of these activities, issues with overtime hours, the labour/human rights management system (response to child labour, elimination of discrimination etc.) and deficiencies in the management of chemicals and toxic substances were identified. Improvements have been confirmed in the important items at all suppliers where expert teams conducted onsite visits up to the end of the year.

For the products that we sell that are sourced from FUJIFILM Europe B.V., for products that we source ourselves and for services, our activities and those of FUJIFILM Europe B.V. consist of working with our or their suppliers to understand their approach to ensuring that there is no modern slavery or human trafficking in their supply chains or in any part of their business. Compliance with the Modern Slavery Act 2015 is part of our contracting processes with our supplier and business partners (one aspect of which is the inclusion of a specific provision in our standard terms and conditions of purchase).

TRAINING

To ensure an understanding of the risks of modern slavery and human trafficking in our supply chains and our business, we work with our procurement staff to ensure they act ethically and with integrity in their interactions with our suppliers and to implement and promote this approach in our supply chains. Our staff who are involved in procurement activities are made aware of our responsibilities around modern slavery and human trafficking and are directed to the UK government guidance for further information.

FURTHER STEPS

To combat human rights risks within the supply chain, Fujifilm Group companies will continue to promote actions with the framework of ethical procurement. There is a clear focus within FUJIFILM Holdings Corporation on finding ways to improve the sustainable procurement activities of Fujifilm Group companies and this should lead to further initiatives in the future which will be reported in future statements.

Following a review of the effectiveness of the steps we have taken this year to ensure that there is no slavery or human trafficking in our supply chains, we intend to take the following further steps to combat slavery and human trafficking:

Adoption of the Supplier Guidelines into our own procurement activities once introduced into Europe by the Fujifilm Group.

This statement is made pursuant to section 54(1) of the Modern Slavery Act 2015 and constitutes the slavery and human trafficking statement for FUJIFILM UK Limited for the financial year ending 31 March 2022.
