Organisation’s Structure, Business and Supply Chains

Structure

The Companies are ultimately owned by RWE AG, which owns the Companies through its subsidiary, RWE Generation SE, a pan-European company. RWE AG, an international energy company, has four business segments – Generation, Power, Supply & Trading and Renewables.

RWE is leading the way to a green energy world. With its investment and growth strategy Growing Green, RWE is contributing significantly to the success of the energy transition and the decarbonisation of the energy system.

Around 20,000 employees work for RWE in almost 30 countries worldwide. RWE is already one of the leading companies in the field of renewable energy.

Between 2024 and 2030, RWE will invest 55 billion euros worldwide in offshore and onshore wind, solar energy, batteries, flexible generation, and hydrogen projects. By the end of the decade, RWE’s green portfolio will grow to more than 65 gigawatts of generation capacity, which will be perfectly complemented by global energy trading.

RWE is decarbonising its business in line with the 1.5-degree reduction pathway and will phase out coal by 2030. RWE will be net-zero by 2040. Fully in line with the company’s purpose - Our energy for a sustainable life.

Business in the UK

In the UK, the Company has around 850 employees and has its headquarters in Swindon. The Company owns and operates the UK’s largest fleet of gas-fired power stations. The Company also operates 21 hydro sites across the UK and a highly efficient biomass combined heat and power plant in Markinch, Scotland. The total capacity of the Company’s UK fleet is around 7GW.

RWE is the UK’s largest power producer, supplying around 15 % of the country’s electricity – enough to power over 14 million UK homes – with a diverse operational portfolio of onshore wind, offshore wind, hydro, biomass and gas, amounting to around 10 gigawatts (GW) pro rata (12 GW installed capacity).

The Company is also actively involved in the development of innovative hydrogen technologies, as RWE is well placed to deliver valuable insights. Our renewable power from a growing offshore and onshore portfolio will help drive green hydrogen; plus through our major efficient gas fleet in the UK, we could be the major power off-taker for all forms of clean hydrogen, thereby becoming a key partner in the transition to a hydrogen economy.

RWE's policy approach to tackling modern slavery and human trafficking

Throughout 2023, the Company has been committed to act ethically and responsibly in all business relationships, and adopt a zero tolerance to slavery and human trafficking in any part of its business or supply chain.

Our policies are aligned with and adopt the core values of the RWE Code of Conduct. This Code of Conduct applies across the entire RWE Group, and adopts the core values of the United Nations Global Compact, including recognising, supporting, and putting into practice the United Nations Global Compact's 10 principles pertaining to human rights, labour standards, environmental protection and anti-corruption in all our areas of influence.

The Anti-Slavery and Human Trafficking Policy ("MSA Policy"), created to fulfil all requirements of the Modern Slavery Act 2015 and to demonstrate the Companies' commitment against modern slavery was launched in 2022.

Our people

- The Companies operate a number of internal policies, including the enforcement of relevant systems and controls, to ensure that they are conducting business in an ethical and transparent manner. For example, the Companies' recruitment process requires new employees, agency workers or fixed term contractors to comply with the RWE Code of Conduct.
- The Company has established policies relating to Speak Up, Grievance, Bullying & Harassment, and Recruitment & Selection which also adopt the core values of RWE's Code of Conduct.

Our Supply Chains

- We are committed to ensuring that there is no human trafficking or slavery in any part of our business or our supply chains. Our supply chains include goods and services from both national and international suppliers.
- We are committed to recognising, supporting and putting into practice the United Nations Global Compact's 10 principles pertaining to human rights, labour standards, environmental protection and anti-corruption in all areas of influence.
- Our General Terms and Conditions for procurement require all our suppliers to comply with the RWE Code of Conduct. The RWE Code of Conduct is consistent with the "Labour standards" set out in the United Nations Global Compact. They require all of our suppliers, both through their own activities and those within their own supply chains, to ensure that they do not commit any offences of "slavery, servitude and forced or compulsory labour", "child labour" or "human trafficking". Our General Terms and Conditions for procurement also contain a specific Modern Slavery clause that requires the supplier to comply with the requirements of the Modern Slavery Act 2015.

Due diligence processes in relation to slavery and human trafficking within our supply chains

We take appropriate steps to verify that potential suppliers are not currently, nor have been previously involved in slavery or human trafficking.

Our supplier qualification process is applied to all new and potential suppliers that meet our qualifying criteria and our procurement contracts require that modern slavery is not taking place in the supplier's business and/or their supply chains.

During 2023 we continued to identify and implement ways of strengthening its due diligence policies and procedures in relation to slavery and human trafficking within our supply chains. We conduct regular supply chain risk assessments on the information received from our existing and new suppliers, in particular:

- The Companies require suppliers to complete a Corporate Questionnaire, which includes a Modern Slavery related question and three self-assessments on Environmental Protection, Human Rights & Labour as well as Supply Chain Responsibility.
- As part of the Companies' supplier selection process, suppliers are required to provide the Companies with details of their own procedures to ensure there are no occurrences of slavery or human trafficking within their business or supply chains. The supplier is also required to inform the Companies' of any changes to their responses that occur at any point during the lifetime of any contract.
- The Companies exclude any potential bidders that appear on the World Bank Sanctions Lists or the EU Sanctions Lists from their tender process for procurement spend.
- In August 2023, we introduced a mandatory check for new and potential business partners against (sanctions) lists using an external system.
- The Companies' existing suppliers are checked against these sanction lists on a daily basis and further investigations are carried out if required.

In 2023, RWE developed the Human Rights Risk Management System, which provides a framework to put the principles of the Policy Statement on RWE's Human Rights Strategy into practice see www.rwe.com. The objective of the Human Rights Risk Management System is to be the overarching framework of all the actions supporting Human Rights due diligence implementation. It aims for the prevention of potential or remediation of actual breaches in Human Rights and/or related Environmental Obligations, according to the requirements of the German Act on Corporate Due Diligence Obligations in Supply Chains (the "German Supply Chain Act" or "Lieferkettensorgfaltspflichtengesetz" or "LkSG"). This law came into force in 2023 and applies to German companies above certain thresholds in their global operations. Measures taken to comply with the German Supply Chain Act enhances RWE's efforts in dealing with Human Rights risks.

In the event of a suspected violation of our policies, we reserve the right to audit any of our suppliers' operations, facilities and working conditions, as well as their quality, environmental, ethical and health & safety procedures and systems. This is to ensure compliance with our Code of Conduct and the Anti-Slavery and Human Trafficking Policy. As part of our supplier qualification process we reserve the right to have access to, and to audit, our supplier's supply chain if required.

Key Performance indicators for 2023

The Company has a dedicated Compliance Officer who works with legal and procurement experts to support the implementation and enforcement of the Modern Slavery Act 2015.

To ensure a high level of understanding of the risks of modern slavery and human trafficking within our supply chains and businesses, we successfully delivered Modern Slavery Act 2015 training to relevant procurement personnel, helping them to better identify any potential human trafficking and modern slavery issues.

In addition to the annual Modern Slavery Act 2015 training, procurement personnel received training on the requirements to ensure compliance with the German Supply Chain Act as of 2023, as well as regular training on Supplier Qualification and use of the supplier risk monitoring tool.

Our plans for 2024

We will conduct a review and in depth evaluation of the different elements of the Human Rights Risk Management System after its first year of implementation and any identified gaps or necessary improvements will be tackled in 2024.

Modern slavery training will take place annually within the Procurement team and across further business areas, where applicable.

This statement is made pursuant to Section 54(1) of the Modern Slavery Act 2015 and constitutes the Companies' anti-slavery and human trafficking statement for the financial year ending 31 December 2023.
