Modern Slavery Statement

Triton Power Limited (the Company) is a private independent power generator with a capacity of 1.35GW. We provide power to the UK wholesale electricity market, stability services to the National Grid electricity system operator and process steam to local customers through our UK power stations. This statement applies to all Triton Power Limited subsidiaries and operating companies (Saltend Cogeneration Company Limited, Indian Queens Power Limited, Deeside Power (UK) Limited, as registered in England and Wales).

We are committed to acting ethically and with integrity in all our business dealings and relationships and to implementing and enforcing effective systems and controls to ensure modern slavery is not taking place anywhere in our own business or in any of our supply chains. We expect the same high standards from all of our contractors, suppliers and other business partners and we expect that our suppliers will hold their own suppliers to the same high standards.

Our supply chain includes owners, regulators, professional associations, insurers, partners, customers and suppliers. This statement applies to all persons working for us or on our behalf in any capacity, including directors, employees, agency workers, agents, contractors, external consultants, third-party representatives and business partners.

During the ongoing global coronavirus (Covid-19) pandemic we continue to support security of supplies to the UK electricity market, keeping critical infrastructure operating safely and securely. In turn, our supply chain is vital in supporting our continued operation – as had been recognised by the UK Governments classification of the electricity industry as essential workers. We continue to apply the same rigour and standards to our supply chain, despite the unprecedented challenge Covid-19 has presented to industry, to ensure that goods and services are sourced from reputable and ethical suppliers.

We are committed to improving our practices and to ensuring that there is no modern slavery or human trafficking in our supply chains or in any part of our business. To ensure this:

- Our services agreement with suppliers includes specific clauses around complying with our ethical policies (such policies formulated in compliance with the Modern Slavery Act 2015);
- Our suppliers warrant that they have not been convicted of any offence regarding slavery and human trafficking. They are also required to warrant that they will conduct their business in a manner that is consistent with our ethical policies (incorporating the Modern Slavery Act 2015);
- We require our suppliers to implement due diligence for their own suppliers and subcontractors to ensure there is no slavery or human trafficking in their supply chains; and
- Suppliers are required to notify us of any breach or potential breach of our ethical policies (incorporating the Modern Slavery Act 2015).

To further identify and mitigate risk we:

- Conduct annual meetings with the board of directors to discuss this statement and review our suppliers' performance related to issues such as slavery and human trafficking;
- Require our new suppliers to complete a questionnaire detailing their ethical policies or alternatively compliance with our ethical policies.;
- Monitor compliance of key suppliers against our ethical policies and reserve rights of audit;
- Review our standard terms and conditions to ensure that our contracts with suppliers place obligations on them to comply with our ethical policies (incorporating the principles of the Modern Slavery Act 2015) in their business and supply chain;
- Communicate with employees regarding the importance of ethics and legal compliance on an annual basis.
