On March 26 2015, the Modern Slavery Act 2015 was passed into law in the United Kingdom. Ikonik fully supports the aims of the legislation and is committed to complying with applicable anti-slavery and human trafficking laws.

Our Supply Chains

Ikonics standard supplier contracts contain Compliance with Laws provisions that require the parties to comply with all applicable laws, which includes laws about anti-slavery and human trafficking. In addition, Ikonics Supplier Integrity Principles establishes and communicates Ikonics expectations regarding our suppliers' compliance with international ethical standards, including regulations on anti-slavery and human trafficking.

Our Policies and Procedure on Slavery and Human Trafficking

Ikonik has made efforts to address the risks of slavery and human trafficking violations in its own business. During pre-employment screening of potential employees, Ikonik verifies that individuals are eligible to work in the Company and meet all applicable age requirements. Ikonik provides Ethics and Compliance awareness training to its employees.

Ikonics Supplier Integrity Principles outline principles on human rights, minimum wage, maximum hour and overtime rules, forced, bonded or involuntary labour, human trafficking, child labour and other important legal and compliance areas. The document provides methods for suppliers to speak up if they have a question or to make a report if they suspect any unlawful conduct, including anti-slavery and human trafficking violations.

Employees are expected to report any violations of Ikonics conduct to their manager, or a Director. Suppliers, customers, partners, shareholders, and any stakeholders may report concerns anonymously to the Managing Director.

Reports are reviewed and appropriate action including investigations and corrective actions are taken within a reasonable period. Employees and suppliers are protected from retaliation for making a report in good faith, and anyone found to have acted against this protection is subject to disciplinary action up to and including termination.

Our Effectiveness in Combating Slavery and Human Trafficking
